METHODOLOGY AND WORK PLAN

• This study is classified as qualitative as the purpose is primarily to describe a phenomenon and a universal problem of marginalization. It would be a qualitative research which tends to be more “in-depth”, focusing two different regional literatures probing deeper into a given problem, the politics of Caste and Race in Dalit Literature and Black American Writings.

• The descriptive research method of research will be used for conducting the present study.

• The primary data would be collected from the original works of the two writers, Joseph Mackwan and William Faulkner.

• The secondary data source would be the related literature in the form of various reference books, publications and journal articles.

The total time spent on literature review, primary and secondary data collection, data analysis, writing and presentation would be approximately 12 (twelve) months from the date of registration.
