Hypotheses:

This study aims to answer some questions regarding the Human Resource Management of women conductors engaged with the Maharashtra State Transport. The answers of these questions will expose the reality in and will open up the way of addressing the same. These questions will be addressed using following hypotheses:

1. The working efficiency of women conductors is highly correlated to the unhealthy working environment.
2. Effectiveness of training and performance of employees is significantly related.
3. The socioeconomic status and the level of satisfaction of women conductors is significantly related.