Objective of the present work:

1) Develop the mathematical model for biological data
2) To search for the pattern in random structure of biological data
3) Study the logical relationship between the selected variables
4) Applying the mathematical tools for random data.