Consumer Buying Behaviour
With Regard to
Branded and Traditional Jewellery
With Special Reference to Jaipur Jewellery Market

INTRODUCTION
Consumer Behavior is a manner that a consumer display while buying the product or a service. Each and every consumer has his/her own buying behavior that he displays it during purchase of different products. This behavior displayed by the consumer is the result of a number of influences which he/she receives from the environment. These influences can be categorized into four factors viz. Cultural factors, Social factors, Personal factors and Psychological factors.

Importance of Consumer Buying Behavior
The study of consumer behavior focuses on how individuals make their decisions to spend their available resources (time, money, effort) on consumption related items or consumption related aspects (What they buy? When they buy? How they buy?). It also study of individuals, or organizations and the processes consumers use to search, select, use and dispose of products, services, experience, or ideas to satisfy needs and its impact on the consumer and society.

Consumer Buying Behavior in Jewellery Industry
Consumer buying behavior in jewellery industry can be studied on the internal parameters such as Popularity of the brand, Trust in the brand, Impact of any occasions such as Festivals, Birthday, Anniversary, Marriage, Engagement etc., Celebrity Endorsement, Promotion, Brand Name, Exhibitions, Launch of new collections.
Relationship of Consumer Buying Behavior with Jewellery Industry

A research conducted by National Jeweller magazine uncovered the top ten reasons women wear jewellery:

- Sentimental value
- To feel good about self
- Express individuality
- Be modern & up-to-date
- Be cool and trendy
- Make a good first impression
- Look professional at work
- Make a good impression on the opposite sex
- Be admired and respected
- Display wealth & status

According to a study by JCK Magazine, about 67 percent of all jewellery is a planned purchase, while the remaining 33 percent is an impulse purchase. When jewellery is a planned purchase, consumers cite “price” as the most important factor that determines which piece of jewellery they are likely to buy. After ‘price’, the following factors are most relevant, ranked in order from most important to less important, according to the JCK Magazine study.

Introduction to Jewellery

Jewellery is a type of accessory that includes necklaces, rings, bracelets, watches, and earrings, etc. Jewellery is being designed for men, women, and children and can be made from a variety of different categories.
Jewelry started about 1,00,000 years ago. Began with materials made from bone, teeth, and shell. The first known jewelry pieces were worn by the Cro-Magnons about 40,000 years ago. These pieces were made of bone and teeth and were worn as necklaces and earrings to show tribal membership. Later on incorporated beads, stone & gems.

Egyptians were first to use gold and metals for creating Jewellery, it were considered a symbol of power and wealth. The brands were recognized in nineteenth century, and most antique brands such as i.e. cattier, Tiffany, Boucheron, lalique, etc. are still very famous.

Indian Scenario at A Glance

Gems and jewellery has been used by the Indian civilization since ages for both its aesthetic as well as investment purposes. Precious metals and stones have been an integral part of the Indian civilization since its recorded history. India has the distinction of being the first country to introduce diamonds to the world. The country was also the first to mine, cut & polish and trade in diamonds.

Changing lifestyle and urbanization are also fuelling the growth in the gems and jewellery industry, mainly in branded jewellery.

Branded jewellery has found a niche for itself in the tough Indian market, and its increasing growth rates show that before long it will corner a significant share of the jewellery market.

WITH the retail industry in India burgeoning, several companies have made inroads into the traditional jewellery industry, selling the product that was never really "marketed" in "brand" new ways. So much so that branded jewellery is the new mantra in the market, having rapidly acquired a niche over the past few years.

The branded jewellery industry is still in its infancy, but increasing growth rates show that in a short time it will corner a significant chunk of the market. Perhaps the best compliment to the branded segment is that old jewellery showrooms have also begun to design jewellery lines under a brand name.

Jaipur Scenario
Jaipur is India’s second important gems and jewellery exporting centre and the first for sales to foreign tourists. With a history dating back to more than two and a half centuries, the famed Indian Gems City of Jaipur is still a hotspot in Gems 'n' Jewellery. Jaipur offers great potential in the gem and jewelry industry. These gems and jewelery are in great demand in India and worldwide. Jaipur exports a wide collection of gold, platinum and studded jewelry. It also has an Export Promotion Industrial Park (EPIP) at Sitapura.

Mainly the Johari Bazar, M.I.Road are the famous Jewellery Markets of Jaipur, for buying Jewelry.

Lately the most important step Jaipur has taken forward, is modernization of both the gems and jewellery industries. It started manufacturing colored gems in calibrated sizes to meet overseas demand. Ultrasonic machines were inducted into the bead making industry. Semi-automatic production in other sections of the gems sector followed. A very important development in this respect is that today Jaipur is not only using modern machines but is also manufacturing some of them.

Branded jewellery also gained acceptance forcing traditional jewelers to go in for branding. Given the opportunities the branded jewellery market offered; the number of gold retailers in the city increased sharply. Branded players such as Tanishq, Nakshtra, Gili and Carbon opened outlets in various parts of the city.

The younger generation has brought dynamic Transformation and internationalism to this sector. Younger gemsmen have taken keen interest in not only modernising manufacturing, but are also concentrating on marketing which has become vitally important in modern business. The traditional jewellers did business at their 'gaddis' with mostly their the globe by personal visits, displaying choice goods at international expos and developing new contacts, but have also established branch offices overseas, thereby broadening the horizons of this business. They are actually ambassadors of this beautiful world of gems and jewellery who have crossed the seven seas to spread the message of global cooperation in this fraternity.
Traditional jewelers also began to bring out lightweight jewellery, and some of them even launched their in-house brands.

However branded jewellery players will continue to face lot of competition from local jewelers. In order to gain market share, they will have to come up with designs that customers want and win the trust and confidence of consumers by hallmarking and demonstrating the purity of the gold used by them.

Need And Scope Of The Study

Jaipur which has witnessed the rapid expansion in the field of hand made jewellery in the past many decades is now having a new type of competition & challenge in the form of branded jewellery. This is further enhanced by a few local manufacturers & traders introducing the concept of retail branding.

Thus the need has arisen to make a perception study of a consumer on branded jewellery to assess the future of this line of business & to study the future of direction and change being adopted by the existing manufacturers & traders in the light of the growth of branded jewellery

REVIEW OF LITERATURE

A literature review is an account of what has been published on a topic by accredited scholars and researchers. In writing the literature review, our purpose is to convey what knowledge and ideas have been established on the above mentioned topic, and what are their strengths and weaknesses.

Gidwani Devika (2002) in her paper titled “Branded Gold Jewellery Market in India” mentioned that there is definitely a market for branded jewellery especially if something is aimed at the younger generation, which wants to buy fashionable real jewellery. This is the right time to get into the market, as it has just started to take off."

The Indian market was witnessing a rapid shift of screening jewellery from investment to artistic appealing ornaments. The focus had shifted to design. The Indian consumer was willing to experiment with new designs.
Craig Symons (2004), the director of Osjag, a wholesaler of Breuning and Steel & Gold jewellery, mentioned in his paper “Branding success” published in journal of gem & jewellery that “Branding gives customers more confidence in their purchasing decision as they can identify with the brand and therefore feel they’ve made a good purchase which they can show their friends and family.

“This brand recognition gets retailers half the way through making a sale before a customer even walks into their store.” Therefore, perhaps not surprisingly, the jewellery industry has finally seen the branding light and begun to harness its power to sell jewellery.

Mckinsey (2005) in his paper titled “Strategies for Wooing Customers” mentioned that The branded jewellery industry is still in its infancy, but increasing growth rates show that in a short time it will corner a significant chunk of the market. The best compliment to the branded segment is that traditional jewellers have also begun to design jewellery lines under a brand name.

Paul Noronha (2005) in her study “Brand appeal” that published in THE HINDU Volume 22 - Issue 23 mentioned that Branded jewellery has carved a niche for itself in the tough Indian market and Its increasing growth rates show that before long it will corner a significant share of the jewellery market.

DTC’s Supplier aims to grow consumer demand for diamond jewellery in the context of the growing competitive luxury goods sector.

Rncos (2006) reported in his article “Indian Customers Showing Interest in Branded Jewellery” that Indian Gems and Jewellery Market Future Prospects to 2011, gems and jewellery market in India possess tremendous potential for future growth. It has an added advantage of low production cost and highly skilled labor that separate it from its competitors. It is projected that the overall gems and jewellery market will grow at a CAGR (Compound Annual Growth Rate) of around 14% during 2009-2012.
Study released by the Bullion Association of India (2007) stated that due to the changing dynamics, traditional jewelers are looking to jump on the "brand wagon" by investing in advertising and trying to build a presence in the minds of consumers. Traditional jewelers have signed up Bollywood heroines as brand ambassadors to promote their products.

Shikha Saroj (2008) told in her paper “Diamonds are forever” that Jewellery has become an integral part of the Indian psyche, today more than even before the Indian consumer is lining up to buy branded jewellery that makes a fashion statement or expresses her individuality. Jewellery has become a passion. People yearn for the contemporary designs at great prices. The concept of branded jewellery has therefore taken a full swing in India.

The competition of innovating something new keeps on, flooding the marketplace with fine and fresh designs. Here there are a few Premium lifestyle brands that promise to offer high quality at great prices.

Osjag’s (2009) concluded in his paper “Branding-success” that branding is “an irreversible trend”. “It gives consumers a certain degree of confidence that they’re buying a genuine product,” Branded jewellery has arrived and earned its place on World jewellery retail shelves. Indeed the question is ,“To brand or not to brand?” but more simply, “Which brand?”

Baranwa Shashank (2009) told in his study “A study on the jewellery industry “ that the industry of jewellery has boomed in the past few years due to the increased demand of fashionable jewellery. The export and import of jewellery has also improved.

The players and their brand positioning :The Gitanjali Group is one of the largest, and fully integrated diamond and jewellery manufacturing and retailing companies in India that successfully manages four of the 10 best-known jewellery brands in India today. The four brands – Asmi, Nakshatra, D’Damas and Gili – are unique with structured positioning and branding that endows each with a unique brand persona and character.

Gemstones and Jewellery in Jaipur
Alok Kala (2010) published in “Diamond world”, volume: 38 / No.: 4, Gemstones and Jewellery in Jaipur. Jaipur offers great potential in the gem and jewelry industry. These gems and jewelry are in great demand in India and worldwide. Jaipur exports a wide collection of gold, platinum and studded jewellery. It also has an Export Promotion Industrial Park (EPIP) at Sitapura. Johari Bazar, M.I. Road are the famous Jewellery Markets of Jaipur, for buying Jewellery. He opines that various new ventures like Gold Souk, 200 expected jewellery factories in Special Economic Zone and 50 jewellery plants coming up at Export Promotion Industrial Park have consolidated trade in a more organised form. He said that the jewellery market in Sitapur alone accounts for turnover of Rs 450 crore, which includes Rs 300 crore of the exports.

Becker, Vivienne (2003), in his book titled “Antique and Twentieth century” mentioned that Jewellery is a type of accessory that includes necklaces, rings, bracelets, watches, and earrings, etc. Jewellery is designed for men, women, and children and can be made from a variety of different categories. Jewelry started about 1,00,000 years ago, Began with materials made from bone, teeth, and shell. The first known jewelry pieces were worn by the Cro-Magnons about 40,000 years ago, These pieces were made of bone and teeth and were worn as necklaces and earrings to show tribal membership. Later on incorporated beads, stone & gems.

Egyptians were first to use gold and metals for creating jewellery, Jewellery were considered a symbol of power and wealth.

Brands have pumped jewellery with many values - not only glamour, but sexiness, excitement and fashion. As the number of customers who want to be affiliated with these values rises, it's clear that the only way is up for branded jewellery.

Book contains complete study of past to present. (seventeenth century to twentieth century). it will helpful in understanding of various material, design, taste and brands of jewellery. As they changed through the years. It shows the kind of jewellery and most antique brands such as cattier, Tiffany, Boucheron, Lalique, etc. These brands were recognized in nineteenth century and still very famous.

➢ The consumers have an impact of the pricing policies adopted by the non branded jewellers.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

RESEARCH AND SAMPLE DESIGN:

This research will accomplish chiefly through qualitative approach that is based on the secondary information as well as quantitative studies like surveys etc. are also considered and taken into account.

Qualitative research includes the reviewing and analysis of the articles, research papers, interviews and other published information in order to gain a deeper understanding of the prevailing scenario. These methods will help to understand the opinion and views of eminent and learned academicians and leading businessmen and provide an idea of future developments in Jewellery sector.

Also, quantitative information, in which survey reports etc done on the basis of questionnaires was beneficial in the way that it provides a comparative insight into the consumer perception for branded jewellery and non-branded jewellery and their preferences over it. It is good for examining consumer behavior in the current trends of jewellery sector.

TYPE OF RESEARCH:

➢ Descriptive
➢ Exploratory
DATA COLLECTION

- The research study will be accomplished through in-depth review and analysis of secondary information available in the published form, which includes data from textbook, journals, management reports seminar papers etc. The electronic data and results of surveys conducted by organizations were also important data sources for the report.

To gather all the information that my report need, I will find related information by accessing reference books business magazines and journals & Web sources.

- Primary data will be basically collected by conducting survey through a questionnaire (Sample size=200) and area of conducting survey will be Jaipur. The research design will be exploratory and descriptive.

DATA ANALYSIS :

STATISTICAL TOOLS

This method will be used to find out the percentage of various answers given by the respondents

1. Descriptive Statistics : The statistical tools like arithmetic mean, standard deviation, coefficient of variation, etc will be used to analysis the data. Moreover, data will be presented in a diagrammatic form using histogram, etc.

2. Inferential statistics : To examine the actual data with the expected results and to test the different hypothesis made in the present study, different test will be used as follows :
   - Chi-square test as a goodness of fit.
   - Chi-square test as a test of homogeneity.
   - Two way analysis of variance.
PLACE OF WORK AND FACILITIES AVAILABLE

Place of Research
The research was conducted only in certain selected places of Jaipur like from Johari Bazar, M.I.Road, C-scheme, Vaishali Nagar, Sita Pura thus the geographical limitations can be assumed to be a hurdle in the authenticity of the research.

Facilities Available

Research studies
LIMITATIONS

Limitation of the Study:

The scope of study is limited due to the following reasons:

1) Awareness: the sample taken and the conclusion drawn can be led to only one side if there is lack of awareness about Branded or Traditional Jewellery.

2) Consumer’s biasness: People think that if the price of a product is higher, then it is of a high quality. In this way, Consumers are often biased in their decision-making. Many types of bias exist and all people have biases to varying, Consumers who prefer new experiences (novelty seekers) may tend to be biased in favor of products and services that are presented more vividly and uniquely than competing products.

3) Time and age factor: Buying preference varies according to season, festivals and other occasions and the age of the individual also play important role to decide buying preferences.

4) Short life span of product: From the consumer’s perspective fashion designs and trends are always changeable in search of new innovation that can be reflected in the changed demand and buying preference.
