Hypotheses:

- There are more significant differences in HRM practices in different types of hospitals in Patna Metropolitan Area.
- There are more significant differences in planning and forecasting policy of recruitment and selection of hospitals in Patna.
- There is no significant difference in policies of training and management development of hospital’s employees of the study area.
- There are more significant differences in procedure of performance appraisal of employees in hospitals of Patna.