4. Research Methodology –

It is a survey of University libraries have been selected on the basic of strength and research and hence it is possibility to approach each and every university.

Questionnaire and schedules are important tools of survey research commonly used. They draw the data from the report of respondents regarding their opinion, attitude, beliefs, feelings, motivations, plans and services provided. The questionnaire prepared for this purpose will be presented with exactly the same working and exactly the same order to all the respondents. The questionnaire involves a situation in which the respondents himself fulfill the answers of the questions.

The respondents of interview schedule will be the librarians who are in charge of the library.

There will be a group of questions based on the chapters of the study. Data collected through questionnaire and schedule will be statistically analyzed and tabulated through various types of diagrams, charts and tables.

Chapters:

1. Introduction: Development and concept of Academic libraries in higher education.
2. Development of University libraries of Punjab.
3. Information resources in University libraries.
4. Information services provided by University libraries.
5. Information resources available in University libraries of Punjab.
6. Information services provided by University libraries of Punjab.
7. Data analysis and interpretations.

8. Findings and recommendations.