HYPOTHESES:

In India, LIS education was started from Gujarat State due to movement of Sayaji Gaykvad, but not developed LIS education as a pioneer of Indian LIS education. Gujarat have no top national level LIS institutions and professionals, those departments provide LIS education, they have less than 30% full time faculty. They are depending on senior librarian of region colleges as visitor faculty. Information technology and international language skills are very poor compare to north & south region of India.
