METHODOLOGY

A descriptive survey method will be used for the proposed study. To find out injuries in volleyball, information will be collected from male and female volleyball players. Players who will participate in inter University/ collegiate tournament only be consider for the study. A questionnaire prepared by Cromwell F. J. Walsh Gromely (2000) for elite Gaelic football players will be use with slight alteration, by the investigator.

The investigator will personally contact with the team managers and coaches of various university/college teams and purpose of the study will be explained to them.

SAMPLING

The sample will be taken through “Random sampling method”. And 150 male and 150 female (N=300) samples will be utilized for the survey throughout the total population of University level players of Jharkhand State Traditional Universities.

Variables, will be use as volleyball player, injury pattern, and other variable like, Age ,Weight, Height, Level of Participation will be Studied and apply.

Statistical Analysis

Means, standard deviation and percentage and z score will be utilized to identify, compare the mean deference if any regarding injury and physical characteristics of the players.