Hypothesis

1. There is no significant difference in the provisions for taxing financial services in the existing economy and the proposed GST

2. The assesses /tax professionals are satisfied with the proposed provisions under GST to tax financial services and in relation to compliances

To test the above proposition, the null hypothesis will be drafted as follows:
Let “P” denote the proportion of assesses /tax professional satisfied with the proposed provisions under GST to tax financial services and in relation to compliances

If this proportion is > 75% we say that the above proposition is true.

Ho : P = 0.75
H1 : P > 0.75