Objective of present study

The owner / developer, who is developing a new / retrofitting existing structure, or prospective flat purchaser, should know, about the essentiality of the seismic resistant design, to be adopted for the safety of occupants and structure.

a) The present study aims to make available information at a glance, about broad physical features of earthquake resistant structure for, the to be occupant and public at large.

b) To prepare check list for the, to be occupants, which will help them by enquiring with architect / structural engineer / owner / developer to assess themselves whether the structure is safe, which they wish to make it 'Dream Home.'

c) To present information about various methods of retrofitting, as a ready reckoner.