Methodology

The present research is related to 'Literature' and so the research methodology generally applied to science subject is not applicable here.

The main methods to be applied here are discussions, analysis, interpretations and penetration. With the help of this technique a researcher has to arrive at the conclusions (findings)

1) Through the analysis of thematic structures

2) Through the interpretation of reflections and digressions of characters.

3) Through the discussions of the reflections and digressions of narrators.

4) And through the study of political consciousness of the individuals in the early novels of Milan Kundera.

The conclusions (findings) are to be arrived at.
Work-Plan (Time Schedule of the work)

The total expected duration of work is approximately one year.

First Quarter of the year

Five early novels of Kundera are to be analysed thematically with the purpose of showing how these themes of the novels are related to politics.

Second Quarter of the year

The characters of the early novels are to be interpreted to reveal their political consciousness and point out how their thoughts, ideas, passions, emotions, views, attitudes and decisions are influenced by politics.

Third Quarter of the year

Different narrative levels are to be studied to notice what political views attitudes and interpretations they exhibit.

Fourth Quarter of the year

Based on the above noted planned study, summary report and conclusions are to be prepared.