• To study the property of carbon black as nano material.

• To study calcium–silicate-hydrate (C-S-H) structure at nano level and its modification due to use of nano materials.

• To analyze the effect of carbon black material on the performance of concrete and also comparison with other existing nano material used for preparation of concrete.