OBJECTIVES OF THE RESEARCH

The broad objective of the research is to study investors’ preferences towards various investment avenues in capital market with special reference to derivatives of Gujarat State. However the specific objectives of the study are as under:

1. To study the demographic factors of the investors dealing in capital market.
2. To study the preference level of investors on various capital market instruments.
3. To study the types of risk which are considered by the investors
4. To study the ways through which the investors minimizes their risk
5. To know the investors perception towards derivatives market
6. To study the awareness level of investors towards derivatives segment

RESEARCH HYPOTHESIS

H₀₁: Investors do not give preference to the derivatives segment among the all segment of the capital market.
H₀₂: The fast return is the major factor responsible for choosing the derivatives segment.
H₀₃: Most of people are not aware about the derivatives segment.
H₀₄: Major parts of investors in derivatives segment are from younger group
H₀₅: Educational qualification of investors affects investment in derivatives segment
H₀₆: Income level of investor’s affects investment in derivatives segment.