1. OBJECTIVES

1. To study the EDM machining process for high strength metal machining.

2. To study Superior thermal conditions on die while machining hard metals.

3. To optimize the surface roughness values after different case studies.

4. To analyze surface integrity quality check with different power input ratios.

5. The analysis of working models with simulations to get optimum results.