OBJECTIVES

Objectives of this thesis work are summarized as follow

1) To Study the problem of incremental short text summarization on comment streams from social network services.

2) We model this problem as an incremental clustering task and propose the IncreSTS (standing for Incremental Short Text Summarization) algorithm to discover the top-k clusters including different groups of opinions towards one social message.

3) To improve quality of decision making.