HYPOTHESIS:

The Women novelists like Anita Desai, Shashi Deshpande and Bharati Mukherjee have made remarkable contribution to fiction in Indian English Literature. They have projected the various images of women in society. The present research study work tries to explore and study the images of women which are reflected through their works. With feminine aspects to explore the various images of women and their status in male-dominated society. With having comparison of the images of women reflected by them and their exact attitude regarding Indian Women, outsider can be understood the approach of these novelists towards women and society can be understood.