4. HYPOTHESIS OF THE STUDY

Changing role of women in India identify different periods, through which our society has passed. The role of the women explains the importance of Dharmashtras.

Hypothesis: 1

$H_{01}$: The improvements of the women during Epic and Vedic period are not stated in this study.

$H_{a1}$: The improvement of the women during Epic and Vedic period is stated in this study.

Hypothesis: 2

$H_{02}$: The researcher does not visualize changes in the position of women in India during Medieval period.

$H_{a2}$: The researcher does visualize changes in the position of women in India during Medieval period.

Hypothesis: 3

$H_{03}$: The researcher does not identify changes in the position of women during British period.

$H_{a3}$: The researcher does identify changes in the position of women during British period.

Hypothesis: 4

$H_{04}$: The researcher does not visualize the positive and negative aspects of the life of the Mrs. Indira Gandhi as a role model.
Hₜ₄: The researcher does visualize the positive and negative aspects of the life of the Mrs. Indira Gandhi as a role model.

Hypothesis: 5

Hₜ₅: The researcher does not analysis the importance of women in social, religious, economic, cultural, educational and scientific field after independence.

Hₜ₅: The researcher does analysis the importance of women in social, religious, economic, cultural, educational and scientific field after independence.

Hypothesis: 6

Hₜ₆: The researcher does not investigate the level of confidence, self respect, positive attitude, hard work and determinations of women in India.

Hₜ₆: The researcher does investigate the level of confidence, self respect, positive attitude, hard work and determinations of women in India.

Hypothesis: 7

Hₜ₇: The researcher does not think this study will help the society for all round development in India.

Hₜ₇: The researcher does think this study will help the society for all round development in India.